Bakış Door Factory

Sivas, Demirağ OIA

At Demirağ Organized Industrial Zone, it wasn’t just the scale that stood out - it was the order and clarity that make production possible. With all core infrastructure centrally managed, the entire system is designed to keep the focus fully on production: 60,000 m² of open area, 20,000 m² of indoor space, a workforce of over 250 people, and an annual production capacity of 500,000 doors.

150 trucks, one relocation

In Pursuit of a Decision: A Production Journey from İzmir to Sivas

Twenty-one years ago, we began this journey in a modest 150 m² workshop. A small team, a strong belief, and a single goal: to put our body and soul into what we do and build a brand with a solid core. Over the years, we did more than produce doors we accumulated knowledge, built a culture, earned trust, and strengthened the foundation of our brand with every step.

Today, we stand at one of the most defining milestones of this journey. Bakış Door's new facility in Sivas is no longer a project, but a living, working reality. With 60,000 m² of open space and 20,000 m² of indoor production area, we are increasing our annual capacity to 500,000 doors, placing a new engineering mindset - focused on durability, intelligence, and efficiency at the very center of our production.

This major relocation from İzmir to Sivas, spanning approximately 1,035 kilometers, was not merely a factory transfer; it was a strategic production mobilization defined by its scale, determination, and human effort. Completed with 150 trucks, countless vehicles, and the contribution of over 300 people, this process carried not only our physical infrastructure but also years of accumulated knowledge and manufacturing culture into its new home.

This step also marks a return to our roots. For a family whose origins trace back to Sivas, reconnecting its production strength with its homeland gives this investment deeper meaning. Long regarded as a symbol of production, thought, and resilience, Sivas now becomes the center of our brand's next phase of growth.

For Bakış, this investment stands as a lasting turning point transforming the strength of the past into a forward-looking production vision. At the same time, we are building a new foundation for growth, deepening partnerships, expanding our global outlook, and elevating our corporate value. We invite contractors, architects, distributors, investors, and all our strategic partners to be part of this new chapter.

FORESTS FOR ALL FOREVER™

BAKIŞ

Guardian of the Forest:
The Sivas Eagle Owl

In HDF/MDF production, instead of freshly cut logs, we use thin-diameter trees from forest maintenance processes, wood chips, and by-products of the timber industry. This approach prevents unnecessary tree waste while extending the lifespan of forest resources. By working within an FSC-certified supply chain, we ensure that all our raw materials are responsibly sourced and fully traceable. For this reason, our HDF doors offer a significantly more sustainable solution, extending the life of forests compared to conventional solid wood doors.

Respect for the tree is part of our heritage.

A Shared Perspective 90

Premium Series

The Premium Series approaches the door not merely as a transitional element, but as an architectural surface that defines the character of a space. Each model is developed through proportion, rhythm, shadow depth, and surface discipline—transforming a simple door into a powerful design object.

The design language of the series brings together the measured repetition found in Anatolian stone craftsmanship with the clarity of contemporary interior architecture. Vertical lines, controlled frame proportions, and balanced use of space create a sense of order, continuity, and refined flow within the space.

The Premium Series is designed for projects that value precision in detail alignment and seek a calm yet impactful architectural presence on surfaces. Each door functions not merely as a complement, but as a central design element-setting the rhythm of the space, directing light, and bringing the entire composition together.

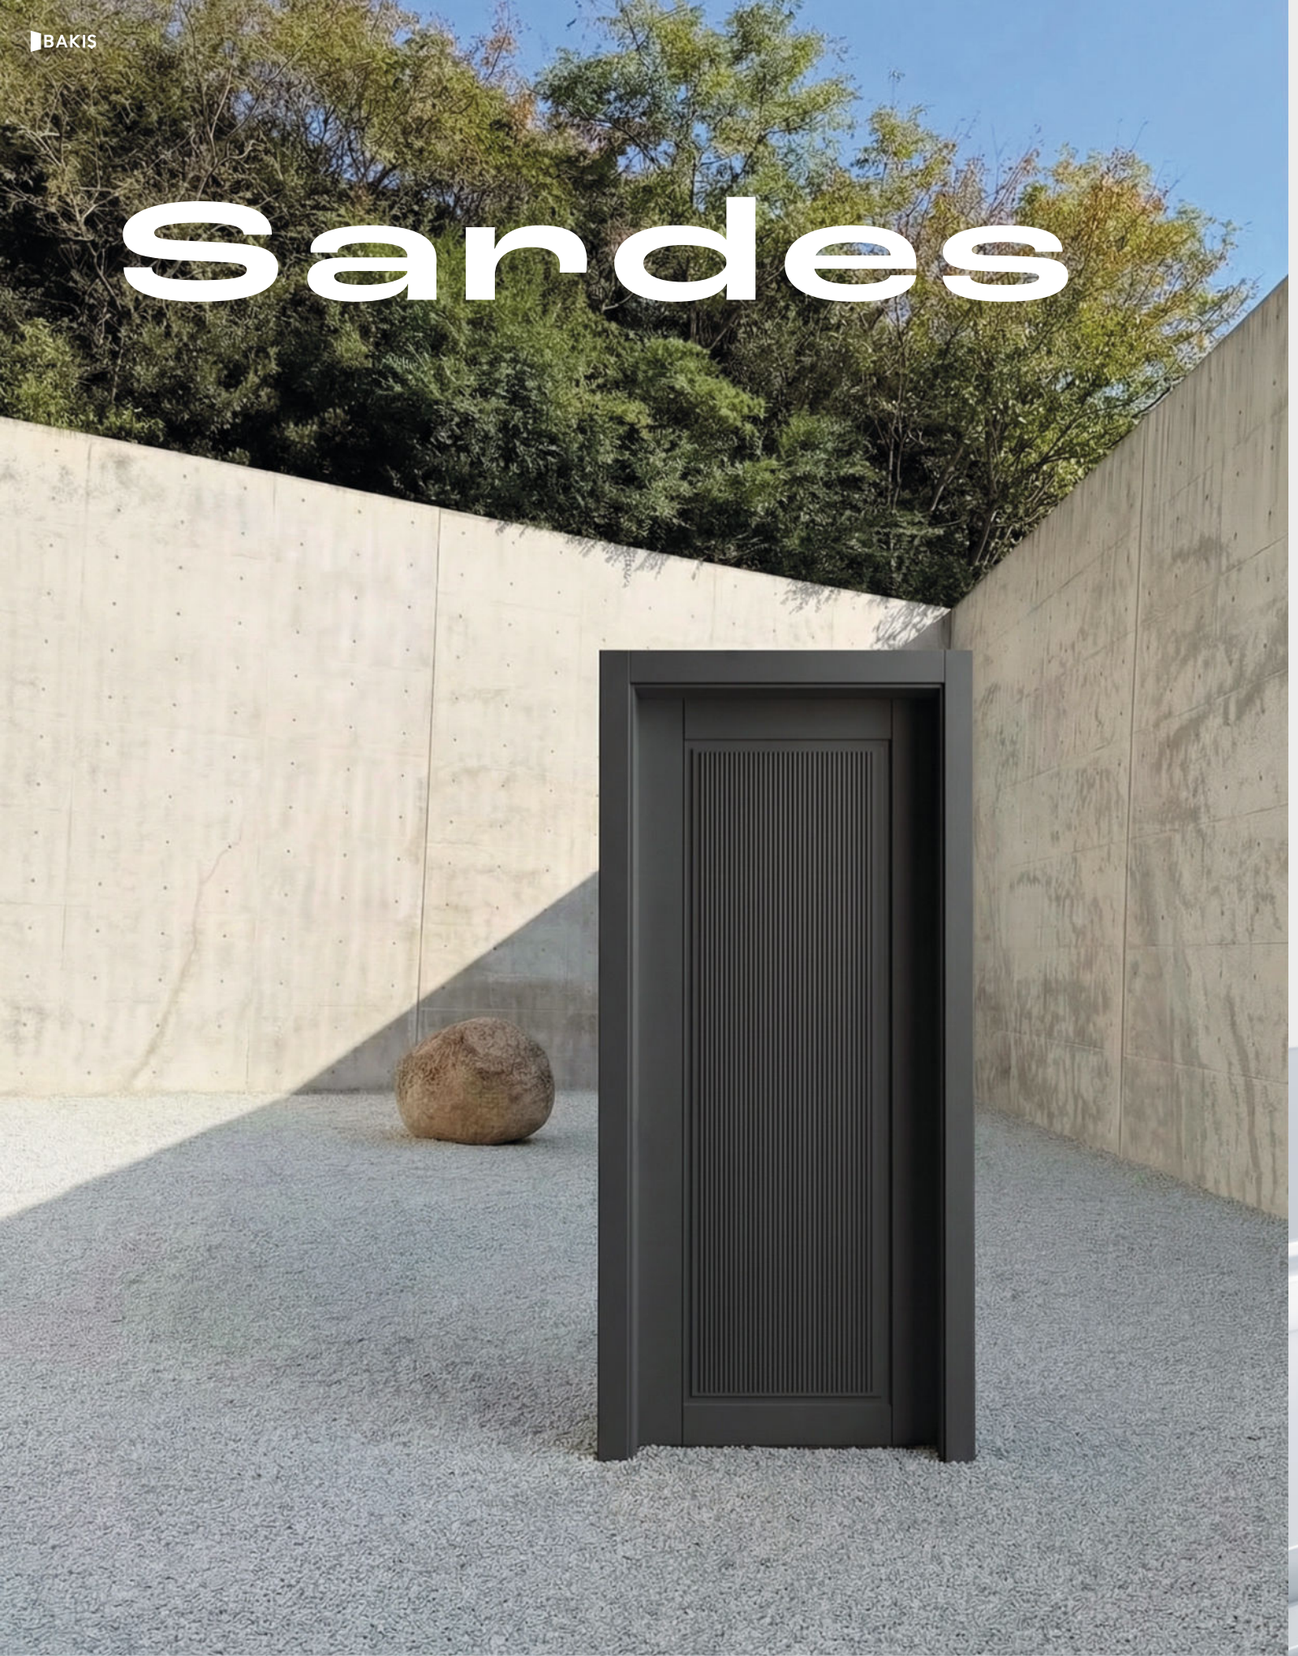

Ideal Applications:

1- High-end modern residential projects
2- Boutique hotel and residence concepts
3- Executive offices
4- Interiors with generous ceiling heights and a strong emphasis on light and shadow

Sardes
Moon Grey

Sardes

Sardes transforms the surface from a simple door into a strong design element that reinforces the architectural order of a space, defined by its rhythmic vertical lines and controlled frame structure. By bringing together the linear traditions of Anatolian stone craftsmanship with contemporary surface discipline, it introduces clarity, rhythm, and character into its environment.

Designed for spaces that appreciate architectural order, aligned details, and a strong surface rhythm.

Areas of Use:

Character-driven modern residential projects
Boutique hotels with a focus on architectural detail

BAKIŞ

Perge creates a strong vertical flow within the space, transforming the door into a distinct architectural focal point. The rhythmic lines rising across the full height draw inspiration from modernist architecture's principles of rhythm, proportion, and surface movement. Its balance d panel composition delivers a presence that is both powerful and refined.

If your space carries a bold architectural statement and you want the door to be a natural extension of that presence, Perge is the right choice.

Royal Series

The Royal Series reinterprets the tradition of classic panel doors through a timeless sense of elegance. Within this collection, each door goes beyond a purely aesthetic contribution—becoming a defining element that enhances the space's presence, warmth, and refined atmosphere.

The design language brings together the reassuring familiarity of traditional panel proportions with the simplified expectations of contemporary living. Layered frame transitions, soft profile depths, and balanced panel divisions create a more inviting, grounded, and prestigious spatial presence. This approach favors longevity over display, and a refined sense of belonging over bold expression.

The Royal Series is developed for projects that appreciate classical references, yet seek them in a more contemporary, cleaner, and more livable form. Each model instills a sense of familiarity and confidence, while offering a timeless style designed to retain its value for years to come.

Ideal Applications:

1- High-end residential projects
2- Boutique hotel and residence concepts
3- Public spaces and private offices
4- Interiors with a classic–modern transitional style

Efes

BAKIS

Efes is a powerful interpretation that brings the principles of proportion and balance from classical architecture into contemporary living spaces. The elegant upper panel, combined with the grounding square form below, creates a noble hierarchy and a timeless character. Framed surface details elevate the door beyond a simple transitional element, turning it into an architectural feature that completes the space’s sense of prestige.

If you are looking to combine a classical presence with modern simplicity in your living space, Efes in the Royal Series is designed for that purpose.

Areas of Use:

Modern Series

The Modern Series conceives the door not as a focal object within the space, but as a refined design element that preserves surface continuity. Each model in the series transforms simplicity into a contemporary spatial expression through controlled linear interventions on flat panel surfaces.

The design language is shaped by the sense of openness and spaciousness required in modern living environments. Stripped of unnecessary detail, the surfaces, defined by subtle graphic lines and a seamless planar effect, allow the door to act as a natural extension of the wall. This approach reduces visual noise, making the space feel calmer, more expansive, and more balanced.

The Modern Series is developed for projects suited to urban living- where functionality meets aesthetic simplicity. Each door operates as a quiet architectural element, supporting the design without drawing attention to itself, and enhancing the modern atmosphere without interrupting the flow of the space.

Ideal Applications:

1- Modern urban apartments
2- Minimalist living spaces
3- Studio and loft apartments
4- Home offices and workspaces
5- Compact interiors designed to feel more spacious

Before the threshold.

In the calm of blue hour, five distinct surfaces come together in perfect order. In this setting, the Modern Series presents simplicity not merely as a preference, but as a powerful design language that creates rhythm, alignment, and contemporary spatial discipline. Each color retains its own character, while together they define the refined unity of modern living.

In the visual world of the Modern Series, the choice of a tennis court is driven not by the sport itself, but by the spatial language inherent in its discipline. The measured geometry of court lines, clear spacing between surfaces, controlled alignment, and sense of rhythm form a natural connection with the series' minimal design language. The refined discipline of tennis becomes a powerful metaphor-reinforcing the purity of surfaces, the contemporary spatial composition, and the balanced proportions of the Modern Series.

Roma

Roma brings a monumental sense of order to the space through its controlled vertical rhythm. The repeating linear structure across the surface directs light and shadow with architectural precision, shaping a character that is both strong and calm.
